OVER ALL COMMENTS

The overall performance of the departments of Tamil, English and History is found to meet good academic standards. Remedial Coaching undertaken by all the departments for students who need extra care deserves special mention. Each department has devised its own innovations & best-practices with the resources available and these endeavours deserve special mention in this record. A noteworthy aspect of the department of History is their keen interest in the area of Epigraphy, where the students are trained to read Tamil Brahmi script, and a similar venture is done by the department of Tamil where the students are trained to decode messages from palm manuscripts. The department of English has an equally interesting area of specialisation where the students showcase their dramatic skills by staging Shakespeare's plays. However all the departmental activities need more out reach. These programmes conducted within the campus need more documentation and they have to be published through social medias to facilitate public view. Parents and public may be given an opportunity to witness the performance of their wards. Participatory and mutually encouraging platforms may be created in future.

OVER ALL COMMENTS

The regular and systematic efforts of separate teams of faculty members to continuously review and ~~an~~ revise curriculum for different courses offered by them, are appreciated. TLE resources developed here are appreciable and adequate. Initiatives are to be made to offer extra-credit courses and self learning courses. Faculties can enrich themselves by creating own online video study materials, publishing books & research articles regularly, undertaking Post-Doctoral Researches and by making industrial collaborations aiming at the upliftment of this area.
